

Joseph Jordan Promoted to CFO at ATI Physical Therapy

Bolingbrook, Ill. (Feb. 18, 2019) — ATI Physical Therapy announced today that Joseph Jordan has been promoted to Chief Financial Officer for the organization. He moves into the role from Senior Vice President and Controller. Al Hamood, who was serving in a dual role of CEO and CFO, will move into the role of President of the company with Jordan's promotion and the recent announcement of Labeed Diab as ATI's new CEO. Jordan joined the organization in April 2018, coming to ATI from Sears Holdings where he was Corporate Controller.

"One of ATI's key attributes that I immediately saw was the depth of its bench strength across the organization. Joe's arrival was part of a concerted effort by ATI to bring in top talent with experience to continue to grow and expand its leadership position in the industry," said Diab. "The structure and discipline that Joe brought to ATI finance and accounting departments in short order is a testament to his leadership ability and financial acumen. It's great to be stepping into my role as CEO knowing that I have that type of experience by my side."

Jordan brings a long history of financial leadership to the CFO role. In his various leadership roles, he has worked with a variety of multinational public companies, overseeing corporate accounting, finance, tax, external and SEC reporting. In addition to his role as Corporate Controller at Sears, he served as Assistant Controller for Suncoke Energy. Jordan began his career at Deloitte & Touche, LLP.

"ATI represents what customer service should be to the healthcare industry. I am thrilled to be working with an organization that has not only a vision for itself, but for the industry as a whole," said Jordan. "With the support of Labeed, Al and the entire leadership team, my role now is to ensure that we have the necessary financial structure and processes in place to make that vision a reality for our patients and our employees."
